Built over a half century ago, it stands there a monument of Hart's budding genius."

Rev. Mr. Henley's Sermon.

REV. J. W. HENLEY, of Cincinnati, preached at the Court-house Sunday afternoon, to a fair audience. His sermon was rather a disappointment to most of the congregation, as a thorough doctrinal sermon on Universalism was expected, whereby the cocoanut of the doctrine would be broken and the milk extracted, backed by reason, logic and scientific proof. WASHINGTON, December 13.—The case of the Burow-Giles Lithographic Company against Napoleon Sarony was argued in the United States Supreme Court this- to see your parents?" It relates to the photograph of Oscar Wilde, the apostle of æsthetic culture, and involves the question whether the copyright acts, in so far as they see their daughter who died a raving manigrant protection to photographs, are con- ac. A post-mortem was made to ascerstitutional. Counsel for Sarony argued that the latter had "invented" the picture in controversy; that is, "had posed Oscar Wilde before the camera, selected his costume, as well as the draperies and other accessories, arranged said Oscar Wilde in a graceful position, and suggested and evoked the desired pleasing expression." This, counsel maintained, made Sarony the author or inventor, not of the subject of the picture, it was true, but of the picture itself. Counsel for the lithographing company, however, contended that Sarony had merely arranged him-that is, newly arranged something already extant. If this was invention, Sarony had mistaken the remedy. He should have taken out a patent instead of a copyright. To obtain a copyright the person claiming protection must be the author of a visible article on which the copyright is granted. Sarony was not the creator of Oscar Wilde, and the photograph was not such an original as could be copyrighted. All the photographer did was to put Wilde in a particular suit of clothes, have him cross his legs in a particular fashion, and put his hand on his hip. This work was not the work of an author, and Sarony was not entitled, counsel maintained, to copyright protec-

Daring Work of Masked Burglars in St. Louis.

St. Louis, December 12.—There is great indignation here over the doings of a band of masked burglars and thieves, who last night took possession of the North End, and, with pistols flourishing, perpetrated no less than five daring robberies. Their methods were open robbery, accompanied with force and violence. Weapons were used, and the scoundrels were not at all slow nor unwilling 'to shed blood if the slightest resistance was offered. Only a few of Bellefountaine Cemetery was robbed. true "James boys" style. No clue to the gang was discovered, and nothing further was heard of this nature until last night. Then John Neiss' saloon, No. 903 Fourth street, was entered by three masked men, who fired at the bartender, and then stole all the money in the place. Five other establishments were entered and robbed in the same way. At John Kellman's corner of Sixteenth street and Cass avenue, the gang saw Kellman close his place and then enter an outhouse in the yard. Scarcely had he done so when two men leaped from behind a shed and each of them presented a pistol at him through the door. He says the barrels shone like silver in the moonlight. Mr. Kellman closed the door and shouted loudly for the police. The mer ran away and he saw them no more. They caught a butcher in the act of closing his place, and made him throw up his hands, and then turned his pockets inside out. The robbers are described to be be over twenty-three years of age. All last night and this morning the police and the special officers were busy on the case.

Last Monday morning Mrs. Christiancy left her room, clad only in her night dress, and, reaching the door of Dr. Dupie's sleeping apartment, knocked for admission. "I am being hunted down," the poor woman cried in agony; "won't the excited lady answered. "I think I will write for them to come on." Her parents arrived from Washington to-day, but came too late, however, to tain whether or not she committed suicide, as a bottle of chloral was found upon the mantlepiece of her room. The examination disclosed that the immediate cause was Bright's disease.

A Brutal Murder in Maine. PORTLAND, ME., December 13.—Lewis E. Hopkins, "Slim Jim," and Ren Turner were on a spree last night, and killed "Old Joe," an Indian, and then assaulted his wife. The assailants were arrested. The not produced or invented Oscar Wilde, but | house where the murder occurred was occupied by Old Joe and another Indian named Nicolas Carter, and Sewall Plummer, owner of the house. The murderers, Hopkins and Turner, passed through old Joe's room to the kitchen, where they found Plummer and the Indian Nicolas and his wife and little girl. Hopkins' first words were, "You've got a good fire, but if you hadn't I'd make it hot pretty quick." Soon after Turner asked Plummer to drink, and both entered Plummer's room, Nicolas succeeded in getting out of the room with his family, although Hopkins attempted to prevent them. While the drinking was going on "Old Joe" and his wife locked the bedroom door and went to bed, only to be dragged forth again by the murderers, who, after drinking, burst in the door, seized "Old Joe's" wife, and threw her By direction of the Secretary of War, to on a bed in the kitchen, where she was complete the record, Captain Ewell P. ravished by Turner, while Hopkins at-Drake, Eleventh Ohio Cavalry, is mustered | tacked "Old Joe," who tried to defend his wife's honor. LONDON, December 11.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says: "After the vote yesterday on the Tonquin credits bill China must abandon all hope of France retreating. The time has come for neutral powers to dispel the illusions of the Chinese and to urge upon China the necessity

Paris, December 11.—According to the latest news from China the father of the Emperor, the head of the war party, has assumed direction of the Tonquin affairs by virtue of an imperial decree, thus virtually deposing the viceroy and the president of the Tsung Li Yamen. The deputies have adopted the budget of the ministry of war. It is believed Admiral Courbet has begun active operations.

Hong Kong, December 12.-Every preparation is being made in Canton to place the city in a defensible condition. Yesterday the Viceroy, with the Imperial Commissioner, Pang, equipped five gunboats to make a thorough inspection of the forts and torpedo lines. He will return on Friday.

Paris, December 12.—Admiral Courbet will soon ask China to renew negotiations, the military position in Tonquin to remain meantime undisturbed. If the negotiations are declined the Admiral will seize Bacninh, Sontay and Hunghoa, and again appeal for a peaceful settlement. A second refusal will be followed by the seizure of a main port, other than Shanghai or Canton, owing to unwillingness to offend other powers.

Paris, December 13 .-- It is reported that a revolution has taken place in Hue, and that the king of Anam has been killed. Another report says he was poisoned by the anti-French party. There are rumors in Hong Kong of a fresh declaration of war by Anam against France. Hai-Phong is strongly fortified by the French, palisades and blockhouses being erected.

London, December 13 .- A Hanoi dispatch of the 5th confirms the report of the breaking out of a revolution at Hue, and the poisoning of King Hipemah. The new king of Anam is Tiephoa. The influence of the anti-French mandarins is paramount at Hue, and war against France is proclaimed. The French force in charge of Hue is insufficient to meet the new danger; and reinforcements are necessary.

Three Men Killed and Eleven Badly Wounded.

A Terrible Tragedy Enacted at the Polls In Voting for Candidates to the 'State Convention.

NEW ORLEANS, December 14.—Primary lections for delegates to the Democratic State nominating convention were held throughout the city. The contest in the Seventh Ward was regarded as close, and much ill feeling was-shown, which culminated this afternoon in a terrible tragedy at the poll, corner of Monroe and St. Bernard streets. It appears that a man, name unknown, came up to vote and was challenged. Captain Fostier and brother, it is stated, tried to get the man from in front of the poll, but the man was finally knocked down, or fell down. A shot was then fired, which seemed to be a signal, as the firing immediately became general. The greatest excitement prevailed, the police being powerless against the combatants. When the shooting ceased, it was found that Captain Michael J. Fostier, a prominent Ogden champion, was mortally wounded. He was removed to his residence, where he expired in a few minutes. He leaves a wife and three children. Fostier was well known as commander of a battery in the competitive drills at Nashville, Indianapolis and other points. Gus. Renaud, Superintendent of the streets in the Seventh Ward under Commissioner Fitzpatrick, was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the Fifth Precinct Station, where he died in a little while. Four wounds were found on his body. He leaves a wife and one child. Edward Masson, a deputy constable, received three balls in the which severed an artery, and short time. survived but a leaves a wife and two children. Gus Peardeon, Mike Early and Peter Brannon received wounds with blunt instruments. John Dominick was also wounded in the leg, Chas. Fazio, David Krackerman, George Tirado, John Astredo and Chas. Flacho are also reported wounded, After the shooting Sheriff Robert Brewster and Deputies John Dominick, Dan Glous, and Mike Early, who had pistols in their hands, surrendered to the police and were locked up. They refuse to make any statement. It is stated that forty or fifty shots were fired. There was a large crowd about the polls at the time.

More Swindling of Pension Applicants.

WASHINGTON, December 14.-Recently the Commissioner of Pensions caused the arrest of Dr. Azel Ames, of Boston, on a charge of defrauding pensioners. Ames was the President of the Board of Examining Surgeons, and is highly connected. His case is the first one of the kind brought to notice. The pension office has discovered thieving pension agents, dishonest clerks, and fraudulent pensioners, but before Ames was found fout the boards of examining surgeons have been above reproach. Ames is the President of a company called the Eagle Odorless Evacuating Company. Just before an applicant for a pension was about to receive his money, Ames would go to him and say: would like to have you take some stock in our company. It pays twenty per cent. and is a good investment. Smith took some stock the other day, and his pension was allowed the next day." Under such inducements the unfortunate victim generally took some stock. The extent of the Eagle Odorless Company's swindling is up in the thousands. When arrested, Ames denied that his company was a fraud, and says that he had given advice: to the pensioners to purchase stock, believing it to be a legitimate investment. The fallacy of this statement was discovered to-day. looking up the records the Commissioner found that an injunction had been made restraining the company from continuing business, by reason of its fraudulent character. This injunction was sustained by the Attorney General of Massachusetts, three years ago, and has never been reversed. The Commissioner has a clear case against Ames, and it is said that the rigid investigation that is to be made will involve many prominent people of the Hub.

Burning of the Steamboat Josie Harry. MEMPHIS, TENN., December 14.—The steamer Josie Harry, en route from White River to this port, burned this afternoon at Reeve's Landing, fifteen miles below here. Her cargo consisted of six hundred bales of cotton and a quantity of cotton seed, which, together with the steamer, were todestroyed. The fire had its origin on the starboard side, abreast of the boilers, among some cotton bales. Captain Milt Harry at once marshaled his entire force and fought the fire, without effect; and, seeing the danger which threatened the passengers and crew, ordered the steamer landed, which was done and all escaped. The boat burned to the. water's edge. She was valued at $30,000, and was owned exclusively by Captain Milt R. Harry. The insurance is unknown. The money in the desk was saved, but the Rioting Between Italians and Negroes. PITTSBURG, December 14.-A serious riot took place last night at the Blue Mountain Tunnel, near here, between Italian and negro laborers. During the night two of alarm was given and about 100 Italians attacked the negroes with shotguns and pistols. The negroes being unarmed, returned the assault with clubs and stones, but were finally forced to seek shelter after four of their number were wounded, one of these fatally, and the other three quite seriously injured, but will probably recover, although their bodies are filled with shot. This morning the rioting was renewed, and the negroes driven away. Everything is now quiet, and no further trouble is apprehended.

WASHINGTON, December 14. - House-Mr. Hoblitzell introduced a joint resolution urging the various religious denominations of the country to commemorate December 23, 1883, the one hundreth anniversary of the surrender of George Washington of his commission as commander in chief of the army, and to request that business be suspended on Monday, December 24, and the same to be treated as a public holiday. Referred to a special committee. Mr. Horr asked leave to offer a resolution that the House bring to the notice of the President the cases of the recent murder of several persons, alleged citizens of the United States, and serileged citizens of the United States, at Danville, Va., in hope that the President will ascertain whether the persons murdered or injured were citizens of the United States, if so, whether the killing and injuring of such citizens, if there were such, were in contravention of the provisions of the municipal law of the State of Virginia or any law of the United States. Mr. Morrison objected for the present, saying that the President knew as much about the matter as Congress did. Mr. Cabell said that as a representative of the people, assailed by the resolution, he was sorry objection had been made. He was willing to have the fullest investigation of the matter. The Committee on Rules was announced as follows: The Speaker, Messrs. Blackburn, Randall, Keifer and Reed. Mr. Washburn introduced a bill providing for the removal of obstructions to the free navigation of navigable waters of the United States. Referred. Kentucky's Deaf Mutes.

The Superintendent of the Institution for the Education of Deaf Mutes in Kentucky, has sent his annual report to Governor Knott. The present attendance at the Institute is 131, of which number 74 are males and 57 are females. The total receipts from the State and sale of old material during the year was $60,286, and the total disbursements was $67,011.88, leaving a deficit of $6,725.88. The Superintendent, in discussing the question as to the admission of colored mutes to the Institution, says: "These questions are frequently put to us by interested parties who seem quite anxious to obtain benefits for their children like those accorded the whites. To all such we can only reply that no provision has as yet been made, but that judging from the vote of the State placing the hearing colored children on a par with the white, we be lieve the time is not far distant when some action will be taken for the relief of colored mutes. Of course we cannot entertain for a moment the thought of placing them among the white children, as is the case in the States which join us on the north. This is practicable in our insane asylums, where the two races can be as much isolated as if they were in different sections of the State would be compelled to mingle socially in every department. We might, however, follow the example of the States south of us, and establish an institution for their exclusive use, wherein though separate from the whites, they might enjoy the same privileges as to education. The institution might be put under the same Board of Commissioners and the same principal, and thus secure the benefit of the experience they have gained in managing the institution for the whites. The census returns show that there are ninety-four colored deaf mutes in the State within the school age, half of whom would most likely accept an education if it were offered. If your Excellency, upon consideration, deems it proper to recommend an appropriation for the establishment and support of an institution of this kind, it will be entirely agreeable to us to undertake its control."

Louisville Leaf Tobacco Market. The receipts were 700 hogsheads, against 690 last week and 250 in the corresponding week of last year. The action of the market has afforded but little ground for remark. There has been a healthy, steady demand for the Burley styles on offer, and prices have been fully supported. Dark and heavy styles have also been steady, with the exception that common short leaf suffered a decline early in the week, which has since been recovered from. Lugs and other grades of leaf have been quotably unchanged. We quote full-weight packages of old crop tobaccos as follows:

A VERY peculiar homicide occurred at the house of Ed. Clarke, four miles above Owensboro at 5 o'clock a few mornings ago. At the hour named a stranger entered the house, arousing the inmates and acting in a very mysterious manner. He sat down on the kitchen floor for a few moments, and then, making his way to their bed-room, åttacked Clarke's daughters with a large club. A young man named Joe Bumpers, who was spending the night at the house, came to the ladies' assistance, and after wording off the blows with his arm, grasped a pistol from the mantle-piece and shot the man through the heart, killing him instantly. An inquest was held, but nothing could be learned of the man, who he was or where he came from. He was of rather good appearance, and on his person was found a watch with M. W. on the case. #### Men's Clotking.

Business suits for men have the three garments-coat, vest, and trousersmade from one piece of goods, such as the fine neat mixtures and indefinite checks of English cloth, or the rough suitings, Scotch Cheviots, and English homespuns. For fine mixed cloths the coat is the English cut-away to button four buttons, or merely to button one button across the chest; the vest is cut very high, and has a collar; and the trousers are medium tight-fitting. The taste this season is for brown and olive shades in business suits. For the rough Cheviots and homespun cloths a sack coat is preferred, and this may be either a double-breasted pea-jacket or a single-breasted close fitting sack. Very stylish sack suits are made of English all-wool rough cloth in small checks of gray and blue with some olive tints. Rough suits of blue or black ribbed Scotch cloth are made with a pea-jacket that has silk facing and wide braid on the edges. Very heavy peajackets to wear without overcoats are made single-breasted, with a velvet collar and velvet edges like binding.

Dressy morning suits for paying calls, lunches, etc., have a four-button cutaway coat made of either black or blue English cloth in fine diagonals, or in the newer corkscrew twilled patterns. The vest of the same cloth is cut as high as the coat, so that scarcely any of the scarf is seen. #### Cosmic Dust.

Prof. Nordenskjold appears to have found in the middle of Greenland nothing but ice, worms and cosmic dust. The ice was to have been expected. The worms were somewhat of a surprise, no doubt. But the cosmic dust is, in the language of the immortal Swiveller. "an unmitigated staggerer." This mysterious matter was found, so we are told in combination with common mundane dust, and the Professor, who will have his joke, named the compound kryokonite. He supposes that the common dust blew over the ice from some part of the earth where dust is possible; but the cosmical dust is said to be "metallic," and presumably is easily distinguishable from the matter with which it is mixed.

A quantity of it has been brought back for analysis by the Professor, but while awaiting the verdict of Science upon its nature the world would like to have Prof. Nordenskjold's theory as to how it got to Greenland. Cosmical dust we suppose means dust of the universe; dust derived from all the other planets in our system, and perchance from stray comets and asteroids and things. It is somewhat unfortunate that Science should not yet have fully made up its mind as to the nature of the vehicle which fills the inter-planetary spaces, because, in the absence of anything more precise than a "working hypotheslices not more than two inches thick, and sis," it may be difficult to make it at all let it cook slowly on the back of the clear how the cosmical dust got there. Also, it is regretted that Science has not as yet formulated any definite teachings as to the constituent elements of any of the other planets in the cosmos. By and by better machinery was used, and the price fell to forty cents per gross, and then I came in with laborsaving machinery and I further reduced it to twenty cents. The paper used when the industry began to spread out was of good quality, and was called poster paper; now we use a peculiar kind made of wood pulp, and unless they can get some cheaper material that kind of paper will never be less in price. We take that paper and run it through a stamping machine, which stamps out the design. The dies used in stamping are very costly, and the presses also. "Then get off."

-Philadelphia Call.

"I will, and I'll beat your old car up to Ridge avenue." With this remark he got off the car and began to run, keeping a short distance ahead of it, frequently turning around and shaking his hand defiantly at the driver and calling to him to come along. When he reached the northern side of Girard avenue he turned around again, and as he was running with his head turned back his legs struck a big water trough and he went in head first with a great splash. The driver quickly stopped the car to see if he was hurt, but he got out in an instant and vanished around the corner with a wilted

On a table there are two hundred ladies' shoes, each different in style, but like in material and workmanship; and from this heap of odd shoes buyers and agents make selection. Those shoes that go East are made with straight lasts, and are generally small in width, but long in foot; girls in St. Louis and other parts of the Mississippi basin require short, but monstrous broad shoes, cut low in the vamp, to lessen, if possible, their generosity of sole, and they demand the very latest styles, so that if their boots are not minute, they are at least stylish; California girls call for the uine French kid; Kentucky belles can- | Part VII. of World's Dispensary Dime before upon this earth. #### Mormon Converts in England.

A party of Mormon missionaries from Utah have been working actively for the last six months in the Western counties, and I regret to hear that they have induced quite a large number of persons in the rural districts to join their egregious body. Many "converts" have already gone out to Utah, and a still more numerous contingent have been baptized, pending the time when they will be ready to start to the "promised land." It is lamentable to think that after the repeated exposures of the Mormonite creed there still remain in this country people capable of being ensnared by the outrageous fictions of "The business in shelf paper is only the plausible vagabonds who are regularly dispatched to Europe from Utah in search of recruits. In America the humbug of Mormonism has long been so thoroughly exploded that converts are rarely forthcoming, except in the persons of individuals whose room would usually be considered to be preferable to their company.-London

-The completion a few weeks ago of the boring of the Arlberg Tunnel gives interest to a few statistics of the three great Alpine undertakings of this kind now in existence. In length the Arlberg is 10,270 meters, the Mont Cenis is 12,323 meters and the St. Gothard is 14,-900 meters. For time necessary to make the excavations the figures are the reverse of what the figures for length would indicate them to be. The excavation of Mont Cenis required 14½ years, that of the St. Gothard required about eight hundred miles to get it, and it made me as sound as a new dollar. years, but that of the Arlberg, when the vaulting, the road-bed and the rails are completed and in their places, will require no more than four years.

A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

I have seen a great many cases cured with Swift's Specific—some who had tried all sorts of treatment. In fact, I have never known it to fail when taken properly. I sell a large quantity of it, and for all diseases that are dependent on blood poison or skin humor. It cures PIMPLES AND BLOTCHES ON THE SKIN, and makes the complexion fair and rosy. As for blood taint, there is no such word as fail. It cures cases that have long with stood other sorts of treatment, and without any of those recurring troubles that generally follow mercurial and other so-called cures.
